the end of the cold war ushered in an age of american triumphalism best characterized by the washington consensus the idea that free markets democratic institutions limitations on government involvement in the economy and the rule of law were the foundations of prosperity and stability the last fifteen years starting with the asian financial crisis have seen the gradual erosion of that consensus many commentators have pointed to the emergence of a powerful new rival model state capitalism in state capitalist regimes the government typically owns firms in strategic industries not beholden to private sector shareholders such firms are allowed to operate with razor thin margins if the state deems them strategically important china soon to be the world s largest economy is the best known state capitalist regime but it is hardly the only one in state capitalism joshua kurlantzick ranges across the world china thailand brazil russia south africa turkey and more and argues that the increase in state capitalism across the globe has on balance contributed to a decline in democracy he isolates some of the reasons for state capitalism s resurgence the fact that globalization favors economies of scale in the most critical industries and the widespread rejection of the washington consensus in the face of the problems that have plagued the world economy in recent years that said a number of democratic nations have embraced state capitalism and in those regimes state backed firms like brazil s embraer have enjoyed considerable success kurlantzick highlights the mixed record and the evolving nature of the model yet he is more concerned about the negative effects of state capitalism when states control firms whether in democratic or authoritarian regimes the government increases its advantage over the rest of society
